

Why I Care About Clean Air: Student Engagement Activity

Teachers/educators/parents:

1. Distribute the template to students and allow students to express why clean air is important to them personally through drawing, writing, or a combination of both.
2. Scan or take photographs of the completed templates.
3. On your personal or organization's social media accounts at any time between April 4 and May 4, 2020, post your students' work, making sure to include the #AQAW2020 hashtag on the text of the post. You may choose to either post selected individual pictures, or you may upload a group of pictures to an album.
4. Beginning May 4, 2020, EPA will select some posts/pictures to feature on our social media and website during Air Quality Awareness Week. If your post/pictures are selected to be featured, EPA will notify you via your social media account!

Students:

1. Draw a picture, write a poem, do something creative to tell the world why clean air is important to you. Fill in the cloud with pictures or words to express what you think and how you feel.
2. Scan or snap a picture of your work.
3. Post (or ask someone to help you post) the photo on a social media account at any time between April 4 and May 4, 2020. Make sure to include the #AQAW2020 hashtag on the text of your post.
4. Beginning May 4, 2020, EPA will select some posts/pictures to feature on our social media and website during Air Quality Awareness Week. If your post/pictures are selected to be featured, EPA will notify you via your social media account!
